

Teacher training toolkit for SHS

SHS (School-Home Support) is a charity and the leading independent provider of school home support services that offer practical and emotional support for disadvantaged children and young people and their families across the country.

The Brief

To design and print a collection of interactive training material (toolkit) to be used to support schools in improving engagement with parents to raise achievement.

Items Produced

- + 72 page A4 wire bound instruction guide and background reading.
- + Resource DVD containing 240 pages of PDF work sheets, PowerPoint presentations and video clips.
- + Microsite containing downloadable resource material

The project was centred around a number of training activities, divided into 5 colour coded sections with clear sign posting to the resources required to complete each activity. These resources were supplied on an accompanying resource DVD and also via a Microsite for added convenience.

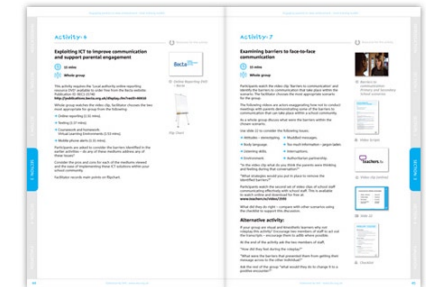

Bespoke illustrations were commissioned to create characters that appear throughout the toolkit.

The toolkit was piloted by a focus group before being tailored with area specific content for use by 10 Local Authorities in Manchester and Bristol City Council.

“The design and production of this project required meticulous planning and a clear and well structured layout. Along with the creative input, Pin-up’s attention to detail and general assistance went far beyond our expectations; it will be a pleasure when we work with Pin-up again.”
